Subject: Why isn't Weber spending $2 million to promote revisionism?

There may be a few copies of that floating around somewhere, but you should really contact Mark Weber, the leading revisionist historian on the face of the planet, one of the most articulate people ever created, one of the most, uh, shit, I can't even begin to tell you, one of the most wonderful people ever, who - as the owner of everything that I Liberty Lobby ever created - who has the rights to republish that.

In the meantime, you can get a look at this article now York-based revisionists, who are some of the more productive revisionists, at least in terms of bringing revisionism to a you mind, are so caught up in the Mark Weber cult.

There is one New York-based revisionist who actually accomplishes something, yet, for some reason he seems to be caught up in the Weber mystique, which is largely fictitious, considering the fact that Weber himself did not even come on board at the IHR until one year before the actual take-over in 1993, meaning that Weber had little, if anything, to contribute to the IHR prior to 1993.

Then, given Weber's "contributions" – after 1993 – it all seems some questions as to why any serious revisionist would support him. The one New York revisionist that I am thinking of has contributed, in his own fashion, much more to revisionism than Weber, yet he still seems to be captivated by Weber.

What gives?

Since I am a known public critic of Willis Carto (his very harsh criticisms of Willis having been widely published on the Internet) I am free to say publicly what many would not otherwise might say.

And yet, at the same time, I have been a defender of Willis Carto's role in the IHR affair and a very harsh critic, likewise, of Mark Weber's antics in the IHR affair. precisely because he deserves criticism.

Hell, I wish I was sitting on the $2 million bucks that Weber now controls, having assumed management of two estates — originally earmarked for Liberty Lobby — that have come under Weber's direction.

If I had $2 million at my disposal I would spend part of it in a very simple way.

And if anyone who has any SERIOUS interest in revisionism other than promoting Mark Weber (who is run by Andrew Allen, the CIA link — apparently related to the the Simon family if private detectives are correct – I will be very interested in telling you how serious revisionists could effectively spend all the money that Mark Weber is sitting on.

Considering the fact that, for the last 20 years, I have been a primary writer of fundraising letters for The Barnes Review (which has 9,000 subscribers—9,000 more than Mark Weber has for the IHR—and for Liberty Lobby and then for American Free Press, it seems to me that—perhaps—my input might mean something.

Consider this: serious revisionists need to get control of the $2 million — give or take a few hundred thousand – that are in the hands of Mark Weber.

Serious revisionists need to ratify key members of the IHR and demand that they put pressure on the IHR board of directors to redistribute the IHR wealth to REAL revisionists such as Fredrick Toben, Germar Rudolf, Mike Santomauro, Bradley Smith, and a host of other folks!

A lot of revisionists don't like Willis Carto, but the question is whether the revisionist movement is going to put its faith in Mark Weber, with all of the millions at his disposal, who is not contributing anything to revisionism, other than his constant war against Carto, rehashing old conflicts.

Any revisionist who is a promoter of Mark Weber should be immediately suspect. Don't mention the names of those who continue to promote him!

Subject: Willis Carto Published All of those books, magazines, etc .

What Hath Carto Wrought?

Going through my files, I came across this list of all of the newspapers, magazines, books and pamphlets that Willis Carto has printed or reprinted over the years.

Quite a remarkable list.

I thought this might be of interest to Revisionists who have only heard negative things about Willis that have emanated from those who are obviously unable to achieve the same stellar publishing record themselves

----MICHAEL COLLINS PIPER

The List follows:

The Spotlight Newspaper - Weekly issues from 1975 through summer 2001
The Barnes Review magazine - Monthly and then bi-monthly from 1994 to present
American Free Press newspaper - Weekly beginning in the fall of 2001
Sole issues of HOAXT newsletter, October 1951 to September 1960
Seven Volumes of The American Mercury, published MONTHLY by WAC from 1960 to 1980.
Forty six volumes of the Journal of Historical Review, quarterly, Spring of 1980 through Winter 1992-1993.
Five volumes (8.5 x 11 format) of the JHR - Published in 1993 by IHR. NOTE: The "new" management of the IHR seem to have failed miserably and have been unable to churn out more than a handful of issues of the JHR's journal. Contrast this to the amazing output of Willis Carto and, for that matter, of Germar Rudolf.
Liberty Lowdown, newsletter by Liberty Lobby, Feb 1 1963 - June 1971, one hundred issues - additional volumes were published.
Liberty Letter, Nov. 1960 to June 1969 - One hundred issues, additional volumes were published.
Washington Observer Newsletter, approximately 200 issues, possibly more. Published beginning in 1962 up through approximately September 1976.
Western Destiny, multiple issues.
The First National Directory of Rightist Groups, Publications, and Some Individuals in the United States and Some Foreign Countries.
